Dear Patricia,

Recently I saw your notice in Mrs. Parke's genealogy column in the Sunday Clarion-Ledger about the need for pre-1880 group sheets for Jones, Perry, Greene, and Wayne counties.

I know I've sent you the family group sheet on William Dossett and also one on Willis Dickinson/Dickeson/Dickerson. But here are several more that really qualify for that area and time period. The Hamiltons lived in Covington County for perhaps 20 years because the father accepted a position at the "seminary" for which Seminary is named. (He was an elegant, well-educated gentleman who did not know how to keep his family from starving to death.) But after he and his wife died, and certainly after the Civil War, the family went back to Jones and/or Perry counties -- in most cases I'm not sure which, so I've indicated neither. But most of the Dossetts, Rushes, etc. lived most of their lives in either northwestern Perry Co. (which became Forrest in 1906) or southwestern Jones (with Moselle and perhaps Ellisville as the upper limits.)

I have not included my grandfather's group sheet (John Warren Rush) because while he had five children born 1867-1878, their marriages and deaths were beyond 1880.

I appreciate your attempt to construct usable records, and hope some of these may help a little.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Dent

Tom Swafford

JOHN C. HAMILTON'S SONS AND GRANDSONS
INCLUDING JIM HAMILTON

John C. Hamilton was born April 4, 1851 and died October 25, 1920. He married Nancy Swafford in 1872. John and Nancy first lived on the East Valley Road just south of the Red Hill Church before moving to the Cumberland Mountain near the Grapevine Community. John and Nancy had fifteen children. Four of their sons and several of their grandsons were involved in shooting or killings.

John Hamilton's son Bob Hamilton was born May 1874 and married Mary Lou Parks. Bob served in the Spanish American War in 1898. In the 1920's Bob was said to have become mentally unstable. On October 12, 1922 Bob was abusing his mother when some of the family called his brother Jim Hamilton to come help. As Jim was approaching the front door of his parents home Bob shot Jim in his right hand and face with a shotgun. Jim's hand was badly damaged. Jim quickly pulled his pistol with his left hand and shot Bob six times instantly killing him. Bob's widow, Mary Lou, moved to Melvine and lived there for the remainder of her life. Twenty seven years later in March 1949 Bob and Mary Lou's son, Tom Hamilton, was shot and killed by the sheriff in Pascagoula, Mississippi after Tom shot at the sheriff several times.

John Hamilton's son Ben Hamilton was born October 1888 and married Martha Ann Roberts. In May of 1912 Ben was jailed for lunacy and sent to an asylum in Knoxville. On January 27, 1915 Ben shot and killed his father-in-law, J. M. Roberts. Two months later in March of 1915 Ben shot at deputy sheriff Gibson who came to arrest him. Ben Hamilton later moved to Idaho. There he was suspected of stealing in January 1928. When the authorities came to arrest Ben there was a deadly shoot out. Ben shot and killed three Idaho officers before other officers killed Ben. Ben's son Billy Hamilton was arrested along with four others for trying to assassinate Bledsoe County Sheriff Gordon Brown February 15, 1948.

John Hamilton's son Major was born in 1883 and married Della Houge. Major's son Ralph Hamilton was accused of shooting and killing Coy Southerland in front of the Mrs. Thomas J. Swafford restaurant in Pikeville on August 2, 1934. Five years later Ralph shot and killed taxi driver Herb Crawford in front of his parent's home on December 8, 1939. Ralph did time in prison for killing Crawford. Major's son Kenneth Hamilton was killed by Cloumbus Wilkey November 29, 1939.

John Hamilton's youngest son Joe was born in 1897 and married Martha Ann Roberts who was previously married to his brother Ben. Joe was in the big moonshine war with his brother Jim in April of 1920. Joe died two years later in 1922.

John Hamilton's son Jim was born January 31, 1887 and married (or lived with??) Rosa Merriman (??). Jim had a son by Alice Davis who went by the name of Clarence Davis. Jim Hamilton was Bledsoe County's most notorious character of the early 1900's. Jim was the ringleader on one side of a bloody moonshine war in April of 1920 where Jim and six other men were shot and seriously wounded. In October of 1922 Jim killed his brother Bob. In November of 1922 Jim and T. Y. Swafford were said to have killed Jessie, Martha, and York Rector. In June of 1929 Jim killed Lesley Bowman. Ease Walker shot Jim Hamilton in October of 1931. A few days later Ease and Blanch Walker were killed and Jim Hamilton was later convicted of killing Ease and his niece Blanch. In October of 1932 Jim and White Miller Tollett were said to have killed Sheriff Thomas J. Swafford. Most of the above shootings and killings are covered in more detail in the T. Y. Swafford, Thomas J. Swafford, Jack Price, and Ease Walker chapters. In addition, several vague and unsubstantiated stories indicate other people may have had trouble with Jim Hamilton. One person said he was told Jim killed a US revenue officer in the 1910's or 1920's. Two others told a vague story of a man who said he was going to the home of Jim Hamilton after getting off work and was never seen or heard from again.

Jim Hamilton lived most of his life near where his parents lived in the Grapevine Community. Jim had the reputation of making the best whiskey of any man in Bledsoe or Cumberland counties. Jim drank very little of his whiskey and was never known to be a drunk. As long as you did not cross Jim he was very friendly and well liked by many people. If he was your friend he would do anything for you. If you were his enemy or crossed him you would be well advised to proceed with picking out your casket and making your burial plans.

Around twenty years of Jim's life was spent in the main state prison in Nashville for killing Ease and Blanch Walker. Joe Pope from Pikeville was the warden for most of this time. Jim was a model prisoner. Pope made Jim a trustee and transferred him from a cell to a small self contained home on the prison grounds where he lived. Jim was a master wood craftsman. Jim crafted many items made of wood and gave to his friends in Bledsoe County. For example, Jim made T. Y. Swafford's daughter, Bettye Swafford, a nice cedar chest which she treasured.

When Jim was released from prison in the mid 1950's he purchased a home in the head of the valley on Route 127 just northwest of where Don Ault's store is now located. Ironically this was the same home and property owned by the Rectors who Jim and others were said to have killed in 1922. The life of Jim Hamilton came to an end when died June 6, 1958 at the age of 71.

NOTE: All of these killings are covered in much more detail later in the book.

Rev. Jefferson Hamilton, D. D., was born in W. Worcester county, Massachusetts, August 23, 1805, and died in Opelika, Alabama, December 17, 1874.

Reared on a farm and doing the work of a farmer's boy, he attended school only as occasion permitted. When about twenty years of age, through the instrumentality of his godly mother, he was converted and joined the church. This took place in Brookfield. Soon afterward he began to exhort, and at twenty-two received license to preach. In those days there were often marvelous manifestations of the presence of God in the conviction and conversion of souls, men under the power of the Spirit falling down as dead, and otherwise exercised. His own early ministry was sometimes sealed with such signs and wonders. Notwithstanding this, however, he greatly felt the need of better personal qualification for the work assigned him by Providence; and, to fit himself more perfectly for doing it, entered the Methodist school at Wilbraham, presided over at the time by Dr. Wilbur Fisk.

Here, by diligent application, a fair knowledge of the elements of Latin, Greek, Hebrew and the sciences was gained, as well as a general outline of systematic theology. While at this school Richard Watson wrote his Theological Institutes, which work Dr. Fisk recommended to the young preachers in the highest terms as the most correct statement and exhaustive discussion of Methodist doctrine then published. This book young Hamilton carefully studied and fully indorsed. Though he scrupulously performed the tasks given by his masters, yet he was neither indifferent to his ministerial call nor inactive in ministerial work; for on Sundays he went into the neighboring towns and villages, preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God. During the school vacations he also preached, and at the same time taught, that he might obtain money to pay his way through the succeeding sessions, without coming under pecuniary obligations to any friend or kinsman.

Upon quitting school he was received into the New England Conference, and stationed the first year at Hull, the second at Randolph, the third at Salem, the fourth and fifth at Boston. In this last place he was severely attacked with measles, which left him with asthma—the fearful disease that, with unrelenting violence, pursued him to the very hour of his death. So feeble did he become, and so firmly seated was the disease, that it was thought impossible for him to live in that climate, and so he determined to come South for relief. In 1836 he landed in Charleston, South Carolina, where he met Dr. William Capers (afterward Bishop Capers,) and with him went to the seat of the Georgia Conference. Here he became acquainted with Hon. H. W. Hilliard, who induced him to come to Alabama, with the purpose of making it his home.

On his arrival at the seat of the Alabama Conference, to his great surprise, the Bishop appointed him to Poydras Street church, New Orleans. This church he served in 1837 and 1838. At the close of this term he was transferred to Alabama and stationed the next two years (1837-39) in Mobile. From that time to the day the Master called him to his reward he was thoroughly identified with all the interests of the church in the Alabama Conference, was a leader in all its enterprises, filled its most conspicuous appointments, and was perhaps the most prominent and influential member of the body. His talents as a man, his fidelity as a Christian, his eloquence as a preacher, won the admiration and confidence of the church, and his brethren delighted to honor him with positions of trust and dignity. He was placed upon committees of examination and boards of education, was sent to represent the Conference at the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and always elected a delegate to the General Conference.

With a mind by nature easily impressed, and very tenacious of its impressions, the circumstances of his early life and ministry were just such as to give his character most of all of the elements of strength and durability. Poverty taught him the value of personal economy and obedience to authority. The difficulties to be overcome in the way to his education taught him the necessity of patience, industry and self-reliance. The high standard of intelligence he found in the person of Dr. Fisk, whom he regarded as a model, made him believe that mediocrity was not merely the proof of laziness, but a positive sin against one's self. The wonderful conversions which took place in the meetings of his youthful ministry convinced him that God was immediately and personally in the church, hearing and answering the prayer of faith; and the gospel, rightly preached, was the power of God unto the salvation of every one that believes. His own repentance and conversion was to his heart a divine demonstration of the absolute truth of the scheme of salvation. And the purpose of the church to carry the gospel into all the world, as he saw it working in itinerant preachers and Bishops traversing this continent, and in missionaries—men of his own acquaintance, as Melville Cox, Rufus Spaulding, Osgood Wright, and their wives, crossing the ocean to plant the cross on heathen shores—enabled him to realize, while yet young, the vastness of God's designs, and to catch the true spirit of the commission of a preacher of the gospel.

In his estimation sin was the darkest, most appalling fact in the universe, and the gospel of Jesus was its sovereign and its only remedy. The differences between all preachers is exactly determined by the measure of importance they each put upon these two facts. In the mind of Dr. Hamilton they were immeasurably more important than all others; and hence he studied the Scriptures not for the purpose of displaying his talents, but to convict and instruct and comfort the souls of men, and was as tender as love itself with a soul struggling for deliverance. While no man was more sev-

He was a man of great physical suffering. The asthma was a fearful foe, yet it could not break his spirit or force him into silence. Duty was his watchword; and so strong was his sense of it that he frequently worked when most men would have been at home. Only last year, while on the Mobile district, at the age of nearly seventy, he slept out of doors and never complained. Wheezing and coughing, and emaciated, he went at the call of duty to attend the work assigned him. He wound up the year's work by preaching twice on Sunday, in Franklin Street church, Mobile, and giving the sacrament of the Lord's Supper to the people who loved him best. He left Mobile, to meet the Conference in Opelika, with a cold which developed into pneumonia. There he was with the brethren but two days before he was forced to take his bed. During his sickness the care of the church was on his mind, and the care of himself he put on the Lord. The morning before he died, knowing his hour was at hand, and in full possession of all his intellect, he gave a clear, distinct testimony to the power of the gospel to save the soul; delivered charges to several of the young preachers; sent to the Conference the message: "Hail and farewell!" sent messages of love to his children and grandchildren, and some favorite brethren of Mobile; commended his wife, who sat beside him, to the merciful protection of God and the care of the church; thanked the family for their hospitality and kind nursing, and after a brief period of intense suffering his pains all seemed to leave him, and he died in peace. His breath left him only a few moments after Bishop Doggett adjourned the Conference by reading the appointments. It was a fitting place for such a man to depart this life. His brethren went to their homes and their works—he went to his home and reward.

The church in Opelika inclosed his body in a beautiful coffin, and we carried him to his home, and buried him from Franklin Street church on the nineteenth of December, beside his loved daughter, who but a few months had preceded him to the better land.

Wicked judged and righteous blessed

10 Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it.

11 And I will rebuke the devourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruits of your ground; neither shall your vine cast her fruit before the time in the field, saith the LORD of hosts.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be "a delightsome land, saith the LORD of hosts.

13 ¶ Your words have been stout against me, saith the LORD. Yet ye say, What have we spoken so much against thee?

14 ¶ Ye have said, It is vain to serve God: and what profit is it that we have kept this ordinance, and that we have walked mournfully before the LORD of hosts?

15 And now we call the proud happy; yea, they that work wickedness are set up; yea, they that tempt God are even delivered.

16 ¶ Then they that feared the LORD spake often one to another: and the LORD hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the LORD, and that thought upon his name.

17 And they shall be mine, saith the LORD of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels; and I will spare them, as a man spareth his own son that serveth him.

18 Then shall ye return, and discern between the righteous and the wicked, between him that serveth God and him that serveth him not.

CHAPTER 4 929
 1 Judgment on the wicked. 2 Blessing on the good. 5 Elijah's coming.

FOR, behold, the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble: and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the LORD of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch.

2 ¶ But unto you that fear my name shall the Sun of righteousness arise with healing in his wings; and ye shall go forth, and grow up as calves of the stall.

3 And ye shall tread down the wicked; for they shall be ashes under the soles of your feet in the day that I shall do this, saith the LORD of hosts.

4 ¶ Remember ye the law of Moses my servant, which I commanded unto him in Horeb for all Isra-el, with the statutes and judgments.

5 ¶ Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD:

6 And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse.

Company I. was part of the Twenty-First that shouldered its portion of what the regiment did at Shiloh. It did its part in all the subsequent work required of them, and when the end came it furnished a citizenry that was reliable and dependable in the affairs that required effective effort to regain control of legislation in county and state, and city, that was in the hands of an enemy more destructive than the armed foes that had warred against them with shot and shell - the carpet-bagger, scalawag, and his colored allies who parted the spoils. There is more due to the work of these men - work done quietly, unheralded and unrecorded - than can be fully estimated or ever paid in full.

ANCESTRY OF ADAM R. HAMILTON (1791-1865)

ESTABLISHED by Beverly J. Ellison Nelson #1053, ©1993, used with permission

Deacon Adam Hamilton's (1791-1865) life is well documented from his marriage to Nancy Miller in Northhampton, Ma.¹ to his burial in the Whiteside, IL., cemetery.² For many years family researchers have tried to identify his parents. Since other families with the surname of Hamilton were also living in the same Massachusetts area during the Colonial period, establishing kinship was challenging. After examining information from these families, the problem is believed solved.

When Editor Charles Bent wrote the history of the Lyndon Township of Whiteside County, he selected Adam R. Hamilton as the first subject in the biographical section:

"Adam R. Hamilton was born in Northhampton, Massachusetts, October 12, 1791, and came to Lyndon, Whiteside county, in August, 1835. He married Miss Nancy Miller on the 18th of April, 1813. Mrs. Hamilton was also a native of Massachusetts, and born on the 9th of February, 1792. The children of this marriage were: John M., born May 11, 1814; Nancy A., born May 6, 1816; Lovica B., born May 22, 1818; George R., born February 24, 1820; Mary J., born May 19, 1822; Adam R., Jr., born June 1, 1824; Mary E., born June 6, 1826; and Harriet A., born July 13, 1833. Mary J. died October 12, 1823. John M. married Miss Prudence Wright; children, Levi, Carrie E., Prudence and Elvira; Mrs. Hamilton died, and Mr. Hamilton married his second wife, Miss Anna Woodward; the children by this marriage are, George W., Charles A. and Frederick E. Nancy A. married Theron Crook, March 3, 1836; children, Asa, Mary E., George A., Adelia E., Lucy F., Adam R., and Edward and Edwin, twins. Lovica B. married John C. Swarthout; children, Harriet A., Albert M., James E., Adam, Emma J., George E., Mary E., and Lovica A.; James E., Adam and Lovica A. died in infancy; Mr. Swarthout died in 1848, and Mrs. Swarthout married J. W. Olds. George R. married Miss H. S. Belt, May 22, 1867; children, Willis G., Louie and Effie. Mary E. married John Garlick; children, Henry, Martha, Ida, Frank and Fred. Adam R., Jr., is in Oregon. John M. lives two miles west of Lyndon, and George R. occupies the old homestead; both are well-to-do farmers, and good neighbors and citizens. Mr. Hamilton was a Justice of the Peace of the county when these officers of the law received their appointment from the Governor, and was one of the Justices appointed by the legislature to superintend the election, under the act of 1839, for a place to be the county seat of Whiteside County. He was a sincere Christian, and gave the subject of religion more attention than all other matters combined, never failing to attend all church, Bible, Sunday-school and missionary meetings. All other engagements had to yield to church duties. He was a deacon in the Congregational Church so long that he was known everywhere as Deacon Hamilton. He died August 28, 1865, his wife having preceded him several years."³ (Correction to the above: death of John C. Swarthout, husband of Lovica was August 14, 1854)⁴

To confirm and document the listed facts for Adam R. and Nancy Miller's lives the following records were checked. The City Clerk of Northhampton, Ma., has certified a Record of Marriage for Adam K. (sic) Hamilton and Nancy Miller on 18 April 1813.⁵ Performing the marriage was the "Rev. Sol'n" Williams, long time pastor of the First Church (Congregational) in Northhampton. Their names also appear on the list of new church members for 1819. Nancy Miller's parents, Jonathan Miller and Rhoda Bartlett Miller were also members of this church.

On the 1820 census the listing for Adam R. Hamilton is: 2 males under ten and one male 26-44; 2 females under ten, 1 female 26-44 and 1 female over 45.⁶ This concurs with the births of John M., George, Nancy, and Lovica. On the same page is found the listing for Jonathan Miller, presumed to be Nancy Miller Hamilton's father, as well as other Miller and Bartlett families.

In 1830 the Northhampton, Ma., census shows no listing for Adam Hamilton. Instead his name is found as Adam Hambleton in Orleans County, N.Y. Also found nearby are other family names common to Northhampton, i.e., Peter Miller, Joseph N. Hamilton, William Dudley, John and Richard Studevant, and Samuel Miller. The listing for Adam shows 1 male under 5, 1 male between 5 and 10, 1 male 20 to 30.⁷ Because the census taker overdrove the lines, the female ages cannot be determined.

By the 1850 census Adam and Nancy are listed in the Whiteside County enumeration. The ages for both show as 58 with both born in Massachusetts. Living in the same household are George R., 30 years, born in Ma.; Adam R., Jr., 25, N.Y.; Harriet, 16, N.Y.; and James Swarthout, 13, N.Y., probably a nephew of their son-in-law, John C. Swarthout.⁸ The two preceding listings are for the families of their son, John M. Hamilton, and their son-in-law and daughter, John C. Swarthout and Lovica.

In his Whiteside history Editor Bent attributes two "firsts" at Lyndon to the Adam R. Hamilton family. The first wedding was on March 3, 1836, between daughter Nancy A. and Theron Crook. The first teacher was daughter Lovica in 1836 who held school in the back room of the Hamilton home. On June 27, 1836, the Congregation Church and Society was organized, the first religious society in Whiteside County. Listed first are the names of Adam R. and Nancy Hamilton. Adam served as the first deacon (continued on page 123)

Our next census will be the start of the 1850 Pennsylvania readings, which should continue for several months.

May we have volunteers to help with the readings of other state census records? Please contact us before you start any readings. Thanks.

On page 107 of the June CONNECTOR, we printed one page of the "Descendants of Leroy and Susannah (Blunt) Hamilton, 1772-1852 file, and stated that we would make further pages available for $9.10, comb-bound. In the week after mailing that issue, we have received many submissions of information that add to, or correct information we had in the files. We have now prepared approximately 150 pages of information for this family, and ask that anyone that has ordered the original copy to please have some patience and we will make the latest version available just as soon as possible. We know that the cost has increased, but cannot make any definitive estimates until we have completed our endeavors.

This work has prompted several members to submit their charts, without which we cannot include your information.

For members that have never submitted charts or cards for the files, please take just a little of your time and send us your family information on Ancestor/Pedigree Charts, and a Family Unit/Group sheet for every family listed on the pedigree. We are not asking anyone to buy any cards, or pay to have cards printed from your information, but donations to help cover these costs would be very much appreciated. Your information will be a help to not only yourself, but to other members of the society.

Do not assume that we have your family information in our files. If you have not sent it, we don't have it!

Hamilton source information from all over the world is welcome, and as you are searching records for your specific families, remember to copy any Hamilton information and send it to the society. We will enter all information received into either or both of the Hamilton Files or the genealogy program. If you do not have a computer, we will enter your family charts and send you a printout for your files, but we will not necessarily go beyond your earliest known Hamilton ancestor.

We are behind on our computer entry, and anyone having a genealogy program that can create GEDCOM files for their information, we would prefer receiving your information in that format. It saves us a lot of typing, and you should have already checked for typos. Also, please DO NOT capitalize complete names, as it plays havoc with our records. The program we use, "PAF" will force last names to all capital letters if we choose to use that feature, but all capitals will cause every name, no matter if it is a given name or the name of a city, to be displayed as all capital letters.

Our new commercial printer is proud of his workmanship, and gave us a very nice looking CONNECTOR last month. His price is also reasonable and we can go back to our twenty-page issues. We have a problem in getting to any print shop, as none are open on Saturday, so Ann will deliver the masters on her way home from work, before 5:30 p.m. and pickup the completed job by 5:30 p.m. (this can create a problem as she has been working a lot of overtime) on the specified date of delivery. We attempt to give two weeks lead time, which means we need to have the masters ready by the 15th of the month prior to publication date.

Please remember that we do use your information, and that your society can be no better than you, the member make it.

Your editor has been trying for a few weeks to get census indexes to members to help in preparing a county listing, and for others to read the census films. Some of our materials are not good copies.

ANCESTOR / AHNENTAFEL CHARTS

The numbering system for Ahnentafel charts is identical to the numbers on an Ancestor or Pedigree chart. If you start the chart with yourself, you are #1, your father is #2, your mother is #3, paternal grandparents are #4 & #5, and maternal grandparents are #6 & #7, etc. Always double the child number for the father, and double plus one for the mother. We will accept your charts in either form or on disk, but we are now printing them in Ahnentafel form.

She is survived by her husband, who is over ninety years of age, five daughters; Mrs. John Speer, with whom Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton resided for the last twelve years, Mrs. H. Russel, both of Ashburnham, Mrs. C. Huffman, Sherbrooke street, Mrs. M. Tighe of Toronto, and Miss S. Hamilton of Ashburnham and one son, Mr. F. Hamilton of Montreal. (From Peterborough (Canada) Examiner, 29 July 1922, submitted by Carol-Anne Hamilton)

MILLARD CALVIN HAMILTON, JR.

M. C. Hamilton, Jr., tournament chairman for the Southwestern Bell Colonial, died of cancer Thursday at his Fort Worth home. He was 60.

Mr. Hamilton, a longtime Colonial Country Club member, coordinated his first Professional Golfers Association Tour event last year.

Bill Bowers, whom Mr. Hamilton succeeded as Colonial tournament chairman in 1992, will serve as acting chairman at this year's event May 24-30.

"As far as Colonial and the tournament committee are concerned, this event is M. C. Hamilton's tournament," said Jay Lesok, Colonial club president. "He meant a lot to all of us and our work on this year's event will be cone in his honor."

"Though M. C. will not be with us in person, he will be with us in spirit every step of the way."

Bowers concurred.

"This is still M. C.'s tournament," he said. "The committee will just follow through along the path he established."

Mr. Hamilton, a native of Fulton, Ala., and a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi, worked in insurance in Fort Worth and took his first post on the Colonial tournament committee in 1982. He was appointed sales chairman and doubled the event's advance ticket sales from $500,000 to $1 million in his first year.

He also served as marketing director for the 1991 U. S. Women's Open, which drew the third-largest gallery — an estimated 65,000 during its seven-day stay at Colonial — of any women's open in history.

Mr. Hamilton was also a past president and member of Colonial's Board of Governors.

Professionally, Mr. Hamilton worked for Educational Insurance Associates, Southwestern Life and served as vice-president of National Educators Life Insurance Co. from 1963-69. He founded Fort Worth-based Equities International Life in 1970 and, for the past several years, served as an insurance consultant.

An Air Force veteran who spent two years stationed in Japan, Mr. Hamilton was inducted as a member of Southern Mississippi's Alumni Hall of Fame.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at Broadway Baptist Church. Burial will be in Greenwood Memorial Park. Shannon TCU Funeral Chapel is in charge of arrangements.

The family requests that expressions of sympathy be made to the American Cancer Society or to the Food Bank of Greater Tarrant County.

Computers in Genealogy, part II

by Lawrence M. Hamilton

Part I of this article dealt with equipment and some software programs. At this point, it is felt that further explanation is necessary for those totally unfamiliar with computers.

Your hardware is the computer, monitor, printer, modem, fax board, CD-ROM and other drives installed or attached to the computer. If you purchase a computer as suggested in the last article with at least a 100 megabyte hard drive, to save yourself grief down the road, put nothing other than the bare necessities in your "ROOT" directory, and make sub-directories for each of your programs or software.

Software can be very easy to use, but you must protect yourself and your data by making a sub-directory for each program's data.

It is recommended by this author, that you configure a genealogy program such as "PAF" or "Personal Ancestral File" as follows: Data disk: C:\PAF\DAT, or use whichever drive you have designated for your program. Most programs will make the necessary directories for you when you install the program, but if not, get to the hard drive you want for your program (with the latest DOS versions 5 and higher, you really only need one drive designation), type "MD\PAF" for the program files, and then type "MD\PAF\DAT" for your data files.

PAF or other genealogy programs will ask you in their configuration menu to designate the directory in which it can find your data, and if you have done as instructed above, you will respond "C:\PAF\DAT", and this will keep your information separate from your program files, and make it much easier for you to "Backup" or make a copy of your data files. It is highly recommended that you "Backup" any data files you worked on during the day prior to shutting off your computer.

After completing the steps outlined above, you should be ready to start the input of your genealogical information. As "PAF" is the most common program, that is what we will use for this explanation.

When you first start your program by typing at the C:>PAF and then pressing the enter key, your program will start and you will be given a choice of different parts of the program. If your program is already configured, you should choose #1, and if not, choose #5 or configure. If you chose #1, the next screen will tell you to press enter, and then you will see another menu, at which point you will choose #1 again for "Add Information".

Your author has found that if you have all of a family's information together that it is much easier to always choose the "Add Family", rather than "Add Individual". When you choose "Add Family", the first screen asks for husband, and as you have never entered anything into your program, there will be no prior information for you to look for in the computer, so you will choose #1 "Add Husband - not in file", and the next screen will ask for "Last Name" and you will type in the last name if known (NEVER USE ALL CAPITAL LETTERS), and if you do not know a last name, leave the field blank (you can always go back to this record and add or make changes). Your author has found that you must press the enter key to get to the next field, or you may end-up at the bottom of the screen. The second field is for the first name, which you should type as you normally would, then advance to the next field for a middle name, and the fourth field if the person has a third given name, then under the "Title" field is where your author enters if the person is a "Jr. or Sr".

The person was not born with a title such as "Doctor" unless they are of "Royal Birth". If you have only one or two given names, you may press the down arrow key to advance to the date field.

Dates are always entered as day, month (will appear as three letter designation), and year. If you are uncertain as to the date, you may type "abt" or "bef" the date information you know, and you may also type "year/year" for time span. An arrow will take you to the first field for "Place", and this is where you should type the "City", field two is recommended for "Townships", field three is recommended for "Counties", and field four is recommended for "State or Country". Remember that you are limited to the amount of space available for printing names, and your author has found that abbreviating township as "Twp." and using postal abbreviations for state or country will make more printed information available.

The second group of fields on the screen is for "Christening" date and places, and may be left blank if you do not have this information.

The third group of fields is for "Death" date and places, and you should always include as much information as possible, at least county and state.

The fourth group of fields is for "Burial" date and places. We recommend that the first field be used for the cemetery name, second the city, third the county, and fourth the state.

You may use the last field on the screen for a reference number for your information location (particularly useful if you have one reference source for several individuals).

Hamilton Family

When you are finished with the last box on the screen, and after you have typed each name or place twice (this is meant to help you with typing errors, and you do not have to type information twice after that spelling is recognized by the program), you will press "Function Key" "F1" to save the information, and you will then be asked if you wish to include notes.

In the notes, always list if you have a copy of "Birth", "Death", or "Marriage" certificates, if you have an obituary for this person, it is advisable to type it here, leaving one blank line between records, and if you have any letters or other information that you would like to preserve and have printed with "Family Group Sheets", put it into the "Note File". You may go back to this file and add information at any time, but are limited to the editing of already entered information if you have not purchased a separate program for this. Be very careful, or you may have to retype all "Notes" to keep the information together.

You will again press the "Function Key" "F1" to save the notes, and the next screen will ask you to enter the wife. If the wife is known, press #1 and enter all information (by pressing "CTRL-D" in a field, you can copy information from the last record) as you did for the husband, and if the person is unknown, press #4 which will record a marriage, but leave a blank record for the wife.

After completing information for the wife, you can choose to add children, by pressing #1, and the first field will be the sex of the child, and all of the fields will then be repeated. When you are finished entering each child, you will choose #4, or no more children in this family, and the family group will be saved together on disk.

After becoming more familiar with your program, and having several families entered, you may wish to begin using item #4 from the main menu, or "Pedigree Search". If you have configured the program to always show yourself as the individual for position #1 on pedigree charts, that is the first screen you will see. From this screen, you may enter a parent or child, or modify any individual record. You may also view a "Large view" of your pedigree, on screen.

You will find that a genealogy program helps you by requesting all siblings in each family, which can help you more easily find elusive ancestors.

After entering the information for all of your families, you will be wanting to print charts to share with other family members. If you did not set-up the submitter information when you configured your program, go back to the main menu, and choose "A" or Utilities, and then choose #1 to change submitter name. Type all information that you want printed including your name, address, city, state, zipcode and telephone number, and this information will then be printed on each chart for you. You will be able to print a fresh chart for every correspondent, starting with whichever individual you wish.

From the #6 or print options of the main menu, you may choose to print your information into a "Good" word processing program for further editing or type font, or to use the printer directly. You may print just a pedigree chart, or family unit chart, or chose both, a descendants chart which will list all descendants and dates of birth and death, a wall sized ancestor chart that you put together, or an ahnentafel (german style family) chart.

You may even print blank census forms, pedigree or family unit charts, IGI request forms, but they will charge you for using them instead of their smaller pre-printed forms, and just about any other form that you may wish to use.

We have talked about entering your information into the computer, but it is essential that you have the proper and most accurate information, or your computer will not be of any help to you. The computer only helps you to keep your families together and easy to find your research information. If you do not properly enter your information, or your information is not accurate, do not expect to get the proper information out. There are a couple of sayings among computer users that are worth repeating here.

1. If you put garbage in, you will get garbage out.
2. No computer is any smarter than the stupid human operating it.

In other words, make certain that you have the best information available, and that you enter it as accurately as is humanly possible. Do not hesitate to admit to yourself that you could make an error, and always listen with an open mind to any suggestions that could make your efforts much easier to accomplish.

If you are interested in using your word processing program to print all of your information, you can choose the print option and print to a disk file, but remember to always name the file and use the proper file extension, or you will have difficulty finding it.

A later article will deal with using "KinWrite" with your information you have already entered into "PAF". This is a wonderful program fully compatible with "PAF", and is very reasonably priced. May you have great success in your genealogical endeavors, and remember to share.

of his church, continuing until his death. The importance of his faith in his life is illustrated by the wording on his tombstone: Deacon Adam R. Hamilton died Aug. 28, 1865 – 74 years.⁹

Fortunately for family researchers, Adam's sons and grandson were also the subjects of biographical sketches. In one Adam's son, George R., relates the story of the family's move from Northhampton, Ma., to Clarendon, N.Y., and then to Illinois.

"George R. is a pioneer of Lyndon Township and the son of a pioneer. Father and son came to Whiteside County in 1835...George R. was born in Northhampton, Hampshire Co., Mass., Feb. 24, 1820. When he was three years of age his father removed the family to Orleans County, N.Y., traveling on the Erie Canal to Rochester where it then terminated. Their further transit was made with teams to Clarendon, where they were pioneer settlers. The senior Hamilton bought land in the timber, built a log house and was a resident there until 1835, when he sold his estate and came to Whiteside County, where he was one of the earliest of the permanent settlers. Only four families preceded his arrival, and the county was not set off from Jo Davies County for some months afterward. His claim was made on section 19, town 20, range 5 east, now Lyndon Township. Three families – those of Mr. Hamilton, W. D. Dudley and C. G. Woodruff – left the State of New York at the same time, each with a pair of horses and a wagon. A month was consumed in the overland journey to Chicago. The families stopped for a time in Plainfield, in Will County, about 25 miles from Chicago, while the men went on in advance. Mr. Hamilton was accompanied by his son, and after making his claim he returned for his family, leaving John to construct a dwelling, into which they moved. Through the first winter it was covered with hay and had no floor. In the spring following a larger house was built, which was of a more aristocratic type, covered with shakes and a puncheon floor. A door to the establishment was made of the boards from a packing box, and it had wooden hinges and latch. Chicago was the place of supplies, and the journey there and back occupied from eight to thirteen days..."¹⁰

Further information from and about George is found in another sketch. He states again that Adam was a native of Northhampton but adds, "of Irish descent." He also relates of Adam that "during the War of 1812 he served as a private and at all times was loyal to his duties of citizenship." He described his father's trade as that of a printer but "on account of failing health he turned his attention to farming."¹¹

Adam's grandson, Charles A. Hamilton, who was elected sheriff of Whiteside County in 1906, added more important details. In describing his father, John M. Hamilton, Charles said that "He was of Scotch-Irish descent and was a son of Adam R. Hamilton, who served his country as a soldier in the War of 1812, being a member of a Massachusetts regiment."¹²

In the records of the Massachusetts Adjutant General's Office, Military Division, are found the records for the War of 1812 including those for Capt. E. Strong's Company, Lt. Col. T. Longley's Regiment which served from September 13 to November 7, 1814. This unit was raised at Northhampton and vicinity and served at Boston. Adam R. Hamilton's name is listed with the privates.¹³

Although no record of Adam's employment as a printer has been found, an interesting coincidence appears in a history of Northhampton. Reference is made to the Miller family of West Farms "Another John Miller, born at West Farms, owned and edited the Providence Journal. Miller and Hutchins, editors and publishers, were both from Northhampton."¹⁴

While searching for clues about this Hamilton family, Cordelia Davis Hinshaw who is descended from Adam through his daughter, Lovica Hamilton Swarthout Olds by her daughter Mary Elizabeth Swarthout Hamilton (as is the author), discovered a Bible record. Rosa Nell Hamilton, daughter of Mary Elizabeth Swarthout and George W. Hamilton (whose relationship to Adam R. is not established at this time), identified Adam R. as Adam Richardson Hamilton. She had listed the surnames of her maternal forebearers as: Swarthout, Hamilton, Miller, Richardson, and Dodge.¹⁵

Among the microfilms at the LDS Library n Salt Lake City, is a copy of The Genealogy of the Hamilton Family 1716-1894 by Salome Hamilton of Faribault, Mn., which was published in 1894. On page 49 in discussing the family at Shutesbury, Ma., is written "Obodiah Hamilton married Louisa Richardson. One son Adam who married Miss Mullen (sic). He was a printer in Northhampton, Mass; later went to Perry, Wyoming Co., N.Y. Obodiah was there for a time, but went to Rue, N.Y. No dates"¹⁶ When all the known clues are examined, this certainly appears to be the same Adam who ultimately lived in Whiteside Co., IL, in spite of differences in the spelling of Miss Miller's name and the New York County. (Wyoming County, N.Y., was not organized until 1841 from Genesee County.)

In researching this Hamilton family Salome Hamilton concluded that the first to arrive was James Hamilton to Boston from Londonderry, Ulster, about 1716 with others. He moved on to Worcester about 1718. Of the family traditions related by Miss Salome one of the most engaging is that of the birth of James' youngest son, John. Making the crossing from the old country with the Hamiltons were the Crossets.

"Mrs. Adeline Crossett Stockwell, who was also a granddaughter, (her mother was Martha, daughter of John) gave me the following (Mrs. Stockwell said her mother often related to her children for their amusement the story of the Hamilton and Crossett families coming together to this country). She said 'The Hamilton and Crossett families came together to America. When they left the old country there was an infant son in one of these families and while on the ocean an infant son was born into the other family. (Mrs. S. did not know which was born on the ocean). When they came to travel by land these babes were each placed in a basket and the baskets strapped on a horse's back and thus they traveled, and Mrs. Crossett would say, these two babies are now your grandfathers – grandfather Hamilton and grandfather Crossett.' In 1876 I met another of the Hamiltons, Mrs. Austin Lawrence, in Waverly, Iowa. I was relating this incident and remarked I did not know which babe was born on the ocean. 'I can tell you,' exclaimed Mrs. Lawrence. Turning to her husband she said, 'Old aunt – (Forgotten name), used to say grandfather was born on the ocean.' Then she said to me, 'By the law of the nations, one born on the ocean can claim as the place of his nativity either the country the parents come from or that to which they go, and grandfather chose to be called an American.' We learn from this that the parents came to this country. I think I have not even a shadow of a doubt that this testimony of Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Crosset is correct. I knew Mrs. Crosset well, and know that in her artlessness and simplicity she could never have fabricated such a story."¹⁷

Just seventeen years after arriving at Worcester, James Hamilton signed his will on May 16, 1735. In it he names sons Thomas, Michael, John and daughter, Francis. Also named is his wife Rebecca who was directed to live with the youngest son John. Named as executors were "my brother John, my wife Rebekah and my cousin Samuel Calhoun."¹⁸ Miss Salome named two additional sons, Lemuel and Adam, but had no information on either one. Rebecca

Hamilton did accompany her son John to Pelham. Although she died there May 25, 1759, she is buried beside her husband in Worcester.¹⁹

Additional information is found in The Boston Transcript. It is noted that this James was the only James Hamilton in Worcester for many years. Their abstract of his will agrees with that recorded by Salome Hamilton. His death date is noted as May 1, 1735, with the will allowed by the court on May 16, 1735. The sons sold his property for £660 to Robert Temple of Boston just before they went to Pelham in October 1739.²⁰

Although this work is primarily concerned with James and Rebecca's son John, the lives of the other three sons and daughter, Frances, are outlined in The Boston Transcript. "Oldest son Thomas born about 1700 bought land at New Lisborn (Pelham) November 5, 1739. The names of his children are Rebecca born 1727 who married William Conkey; James born about 1729 married Sarah Lucore and moved to Chester; Lt. Robert; Thomas born 1735 deed at Sandgate, Vt., March 16, 1825; John married Agnes Sloan; Frances married Charles Kidd; Joseph born 1750 married Anne Oliver; Margaret born 1754 married Asa Conkey.

Son Michael who married first Rebecca probably located at Barre. He married second Margaret Gray. His will dated September 1796 names his wife Margaret and sons: James of Barre; Robert of Conway; John; Arthur; Benjamin. the daughters names are: Rebecca Barret, Martha Perry, and the three children of Mary Carruth.

James' only known daughter married at Worcester Patrick Peebles one of the original proprietors of Pelham. Their children include Robert of New Salem; James and John of Pelham; and Mary who married Alexander Conkey Jr.²¹

The Hamiltons were probably among the last of the Scotch-Irish groups to immigrate to New England rather than to Pennsylvania or to the South. In his study of the Scotch-Irish, Wayland F. Dunaway relates that prior to 1718, Scotch-Irish immigration was directed to New England. Since as Presbyterians they also were staunch Calvinists, they expected a warmer welcome from the Puritans than that which they received. Instead, "They were at once confronted with a bigotry, intolerance, and exclusiveness of which they had never dreamed, and which was quite as great as that they had left behind in Ireland."²²

The problems faced by the Worcester group were outlined in a "historic address by Wall, page 49." Unfortunately, this is the only credit given in the Corbin collection in the section on the genealogy of the Gray family. "The early Gray families that came to Worcester were among the 140 families who came from the North of Ireland to Boston in the early part of the year. They were Scotch-Irish whose ancestors in the early part of the 17th Century went from Argyleshire in Scotland and settled in Londonderry in the North part of Ireland."

The cause of their leaving the country being religious persecutions but they suffered still more in the place to which they went. Londonderry, continued to be, for a long time after its memorable siege in 1689 against James II, the headquarters of Protestantism in Ireland.

It is a shame that the descendants of such persons when they came to Worcester were not allowed to organize a church and build a separate edifice of their own Presbyterian faith. As a consequence a large number of Scotch-Irish Presbyterian families including most of the Grays left Worcester in 1740 and settled in Pelham where Robert Peebles (a compatriot) helped to lay out the town." Names noted in the Gray genealogy which are also prominent in Salome Hamilton's work include Berry, Johnson, Peebles, Conkey.²³

Finally, the Scotch-Irish group did find a home in 1738 when a company of 34 "mostly residents of Worcester" was formed to purchase what had been called Stoddard's Town from Col. John Stoddard and other Northampton, Ma., owners. Making the arrangements were committee members Robert Peebles and James Thornton.²⁴ At the first Proprietors meeting at the home of Capt. Daniel Haywood in 1739 home lots for the proprietors and a minister were surveyed. John Hamilton was not listed as one of these original proprietors. Initially, the town was called New Lisbourne after their old home in Ireland. The town's name was changed to Pelham and incorporated Jan. 15, 1743.

Holland quotes a passage from the agreement between Col. Stoddard and the original committee. "It is agreed that families of good conversation be settled on the premises, who shall be such as were the inhabitants of the kingdom of Ireland or their descendants being Protestants, and none to be admitted but such as bring good and undeniable credentials or certificates of their being persons of good conversation, and of the Presbyterian persuasion as used in the Church of Scotland, and conform to the discipline thereof."²⁵

When the Corbins surveyed the Pelham area in the 1930's they acquired a photo of the Town Sign. The occupants obviously were proud of their heritage and wished to remember it. They summarized their history on their sign.

In the Preface of her book Miss Salome identified the Hamilton old burying ground as being in Prescott very near Pelham. "Here John and his wife are buried. I visited the graves and copied the following:

John Hamilton, born May 21, 1716. Died February 25, 1798.
 Sweet remembrances of the just

Mary Hamilton, born May 18, 1717. Died June 10, 1799.
 Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord.²⁷

When the Corbins surveyed the cemeteries of the Pelham-Prescott area in 1939, they also transcribed the stones for both John and Mary Hamilton. They noted that this cemetery is commonly called "The Bobbinville Burying Ground."²⁸

Miss Salome further states that she had received a record copied from the old family Bible in the possession of a cousin in Syracuse, N.Y. She quoted "John Hamilton born May 21, 1716 married Mary Lockhard born May 18, 1717. Their children were James, Margaret, Francis, Patrick, John, Rebecca, Andrew, Obodiah, David, and Martha."²⁹ Town records at Leicester, Ma., record that John and Mary's marriage intentions were published 22 January 1737. Researchers who wish to read Miss Salome's book have a choice of either the microfilm copy of the LDS library or the hard copy owned by the lending library of the New England Historic Genealogical Society. (Editors note: HNGS has a copy of this book, but it lacks many dates, and it may also be purchased from Higginson Books). The copy microfilmed by the LDS library contains additional information added by Miss Salome after the initial publication of her book including the abstract of the will of James of Worcester.

When John and Mary Hamilton moved to Pelham, they commenced a life of active involvement. In 1742 John was chosen as assessor followed by service as constable in 1743 and surveyor of highways in 1744 and 1745. From 1747 through 1749 he served as tithingman for the east end of town. (This was a position also found in Puritan towns. If one of the communicants broke a moral law, the tithingman reported the transgression.) John was selected as treasurer in 1742 and surveyor again in 1757.³⁰ Unfortunately, town records listing the births of the children of John and Mary were damaged. The dates of the births of eight children born to this couple are shown without their given names.³¹

Because of the hostilities and horrors of the French and Indian War, in 1757 the Pelham militia was called out. Corporal John Hamilton's name is on the Muster Roll of the company under the Command of Captain Robert Lotheridge "in the Regiment of which Israel Billings is Colonel, which marched by the Captain Generals order for the relief of the Garrison and Troops at Fort William Henry. Number of miles, 200. Time of service in days, 14 1/3."³² The military and political problems of this ordeal are well illustrated in the recent movie production of "The Last of The Mohicans".

By 1775 John Hamilton was deeply involved in helping move his community towards rebellion with the mother country. Pelham responded to the "Committee of Correspondence" at Boston with a tub thumper in favor of natural rights. The signatures include those of Robert Hamilton, John Hamilton, Thomas Cochran, David Cowden and George Patterson.³³ John Hamilton was also a member of the Provincial Congress that met in 1775.

On March 29, 1776, John was named to the Committee Of Safety. That his term was short is known by the town's action when on December 31, 1776, a replacement was chosen "because John Hamilton has Gone to the War."³⁴ His rank was 2nd Lieutenant according to a document dated South Hadley, March 16, 1776,³⁵ containing a record of election of officers for militia companies.³⁶ By May 31, 1776, John was listed as a Captain, 15th Co., 3rd Hampshire Co., Regiment of Massachusetts Militia.³⁶

Following their father into the war were sons John and Obodiah. Both served as privates in Capt. Enoch Chapin's Co., Col. Jacob Gerrish's regiment of guards, enlisting together on August 3, 1778. John was discharged August 28, 1778. Obodiah received his discharge on December 14, 1778.³⁷ Obodiah's record shows two additional hitches.

By the time the Revolutionary War was concluded and the first census of 1790 conducted, Obodiah Hamilton showed on the listing for Windsor, Berkshire Co., Ma. In the household were shown only one male plus two females. Since Adam's birth did not occur until 1791 this appears valid.³⁸

Reasons for Obodiah's movements are unknown and can only be surmised. The uproar of Shay's Rebellion of 1786-1787 involved the Revolutionary War veterans of the Pelham/Shutesbury area. Shay's own home was in Pelham. Although the rank and file insurgents were not punished, many briefly adjourned to nearby states. Although Obodiah Hamilton's name is not found on any of the rebel lists, his movements cause conjecture.

The town clerk of Windsor reports that the records prior to 1840 were burned. She has only the vital records as published in 1917. Although Adam R. Hamilton's name is not listed, other children of Obodiah and "Lusana" are shown:

John Lockard, June 1, 1796, in Cambridge, N.Y.³⁹ (This last child listed without parents is most likely a child of Obodiah's since he was the only Hamilton shown. Since he has the Lockard middle name most likely this child is a descendant of John and Mary.)

In 1800 Obodiah's name does not appear in the census indexes for either Massachusetts or New York. In 1810 two listings occur with the name of "Obodiah" in Massachusetts. The Obodiah living in Western, Worcester Co., at age 16-25 is too young. In Commington, Hampshire Co., is found an Obodiah over 45 years with one male under ten. No females are shown.⁴⁰

On one Revolutionary War record of Obodiah his town is recorded as Wendell. According to Miss Salome, John who was the father of Obodiah moved to Shutesbury in his later years and built the house in which she eventually spent her youth. She noted that all that remained of Obodiah's house was a hole in the ground 1/4 mile to the north.⁴¹ This corresponds well with the history of Shutesbury as outlined by the Corbins. On May 8, 1781, part of Shutesbury was included in the new town of Wendell (also called Wellstown). On February 20, 1824, another part was annexed to New Salem.

The 1820 census of Franklin County lists an Obodiah Hamilton over age 45 as well as a female over 45. With them are one male under 10, one male under 16, one female under 10, one female under 16. They are shown in New Salem. Interestingly, the enumerator showed the surnames H - L in New Salem (top half of the page); surnames S - W in Wendell (bottom half of the page).⁴² If Miss Salome is correct, as she has been in other instances, Obodiah, father of Adam R., left soon after for New York. Obodiah Hamilton's name is not found on the 1830 census indexes for either Massachusetts or New York. According to his son George, Adam R. left Massachusetts in 1823 for New York. It is probable that Obodiah and Adam left together.

Although valuable information was contributed to the solving of the mystery of Adam R. Hamilton's parentage by both Margery Heeren and Cordelia Hinshaw, the author assumes responsibility for all conclusions. Comments, additions, and corrections are most welcome. Help is particularly needed on how George Washington Hamilton born March 8, 1836, Sweden, Monroe County, N.Y., fits with Obodiah and Adam R. Please direct comments to Beverly J. Ellison Nelson, 3391 W. Aksarben Ave., Littleton, CO 80123.

We thank Beverly for this excellent article. She has shown the necessity and usefulness of proper documentation which is lacking in many genealogical endeavors. As noted above, HNGS has the Salome Hamilton volume, but it lacks so many dates that it has been difficult for your editor to come-up with circa dates for our files. Any printed material without dates (at least circa/about) and places is mainly just a list of names without documentation. In your records, it does not hurt to use circa dates and probable places, in fact it may help you or someone else find that elusive record. It is extremely important to know proper time periods for individuals, or you can end up just spinning your wheels.

ARCHER
HAMILTON

Seeking information on John HAMILTON of Guilford Co., NC and his wife Elizabeth ARCHER, marriage bond 25 OCT 1774. Did he have Revolutionary service? Were there sons? I have records of 4 daughters only. His wife died prior to his death (when?) Where buried? What church? John was a son of George HAMILTON of PA and Guilford Co., NC, and his wife Francis _____ (HNGS files show wife was a Brown). Who was she before they married? Where were they from in PA? Was it Lancaster Co then westward to Carlisle down the Great Wagon Road to Guilford Co., NC? The family was in Guilford Co. by 1773, perhaps earlier. There were 10 children, of whom only 2 were girls. George is supposed to have rendered supplies to the Patriot armies. Was there more service?

HAMILTON

I need help and information on John HAMILTON/HAMBLETON who died in Nansemond County, Virginia before 25 April 1711. His wife was Catherine and his son William HAMILTON born about 1706 died about 1786 was of Wake County, North Carolina. Was Stewart HAMILTON who settled in Montgomery County, Georgia about 1804 the grandson of John HAMILTON? I may be missing a generation. Why did Andrew Jackson HAMILTON leave his family in Montgomery County, Georgia in 1865 and settle in Jefferson County, Florida?

SCOTT

I am seeking information and any will be appreciated on the family of John D. HAMILTON who lived in Giles County, Tennessee in 1823, and by 1827 had moved to Jackson County, Alabama. He is believed to have had three sons and four daughters, two of whom were James HAMILTON and Manerva Elinor (HAMILTON) SCOTT.

CONSOLVER
HAMILTON

I will share information and I am seeking any information on John HAMILTON and Fanny CONSOLVER/CONSALOER who married on 20 Sep 1817 in Botetourt County, Virginia. I do not locate John HAMILTON on the Personal Property tax list of Botetourt, so they apparently moved from there shortly after marriage. My CGG parents were a John A. and Frances HAMILTON. His name appeared on the Wythe County, Virginia Personal Property tax list from 1829 through 1832 and again from 1837 through 1839. Their son Lockard was born in 1820. Family tradition says he was born in Grayson County, Virginia, and a John HAMBOTTOM was listed in the 1820 census there. Lockard's name first appeared in the Wythe Personal Property tax list in 1841. The Mortality Schedule of 1850 shows that Frances HAMILTON died as a widow in Wythe County at the age of 65 years. The dates and time frames sound right for these two Johns and Frances' to be the same people, but I need proof. I have proof of other early Wythe and Botetourt HAMILTON connections. I would appreciate any information concerning early HAMILTON, CONSOLVER and CONSALOER families of Botetourt and Wythe Counties, Virginia.

WILSON

Who were the parents of John HAMILTON born about 1736? Did they come from Scotland or did John and wife Jane WILSON come from Scotland to West Greenwich, Rhode Island and then about 1770 or 1772 buy a tract of land in what was then Warren or Charlotte County, now Hebron, Washington County, New York? John married about 1766, probably in West Greenwich to Jane WILSON and they then migrated to Hebron, NY. Jane was buried in Tiplady Cemetery, Hebron, Washington County, NY, having died at the age of 59 on 6 May 1799. They had nine children: Martha; William; Nancy; James [twin]; John [twin]; Mariam; Mary "Polly"; and Jennie with one unnamed child. He is said to be the second or third cousin of Alexander HAMILTON of early American fame.

My great-grandfather Franklin Pierce HAMILTON died in Sarcoxie, Jasper County, Missouri and 4 Jan 1912. Where was he in the 1910 census? His widow, Mary P. (HILL) HAMILTON died at the home of son John in Sand Creek, Tulsa County, Oklahoma in 1925. What happened to all of their children? Franklin's parents were Isaac and Abigail (MARTIN) Hamilton who married in Vermillion County, Illinois, and last found on census records in Madison County, Indiana in 1860. What happened to Isaac and Abigail? Who were Abigail's parents?

The most expensive months of publication are May with the Membership Directory and December with the Annual Index. We print our own mailing envelopes with the "Laser Printer", so part of the cost shown for "OFFICE SUPPLIES" is for toner.

The May issue cost $425.74 plus about $30.00 for envelopes and another $45.51 for mailing, for a total cost of $501.25.

The December issue cost $590.00 plus $29.95 for envelopes and another $82.17 for mailing, for a total cost of $702.12.

Neither issue reflects what is spent for "First Class" postage to mail to foreign countries.

The average cost for the operation of your society is $468.90 per month, of which none is paid for rent, utilities or personnel. Our society has the best quality publication and services for the least amount of money of any organization. We continually strive for improvement, and attempt to maintain funds on hand in the event of repairs to equipment or the purchase of necessary improvements in equipment and software. Your continued donations for equipment are welcome, as this allows us to maintain lower overall costs.

From: Tom Swafford

Date: Nov 18, 2004

I really appreciate your help in finding and mailing me the Mississippi article about Tom Hamilton's death for the "Bloody Bledsoe" book I am working on. For your information I am enclosing a reprint of an article in our local paper about this tragic event. I have also enclosed a copy of a rough draft of Tom's notorious Hamilton family which will go in the book. I think you will find this family to be very interesting.

Would you be so kind to e-mail me some additional information? I would like the name of the newspaper, was it a daily or weekly, and the date of the issue that contained the article you mailed me. Also, the article indicated Tom was shot a week or so prior to his death. Did you go back and look good for previous articles about the shooting? If not would you do some more searching? It seem like there is much more to the story that may have been covered in an earlier issue?

If and when you have time would you also talk to some of the older generation that may know more about this event and get the "rest of the story" as Paul Harvey says? Or obtain their names, e-mail, addresses, telephone numbers etc. so I may correspond with them? One place to start would be the sheriff Guy Krebs or his deputy Leo Byrd if they are living or some of their family if they are not living. I am not in a hurry for this additional information.

Enclosed is a check to your library for $20.

Thanks again for all of your help.

WEDNESDAY

Presided Over Circuit Court
In Jackson County Many Years
Prior to Retirement

Biloxi, Miss., April 9.—Judge Walter A. White, 65 years old, died at his home here last night following a lengthy illness. He was former judge of the Second Judicial District of Mississippi and former state legislator. He was former judge of the Circuit Court for this district which included Jackson County.

Judge White was born in Rankin County, Mississippi, and was educated in the Rankin county schools. He studied law at Brandon under Governor A. J. McLaurin and practiced law there for seven years before moving to Biloxi in 1890.

He served one term in the state legislature and was then appointed circuit attorney of the Eighth District in 1898, serving until 1904. He was appointed coast circuit judge in 1904 and served until 1938, when he retired. He was a past master of the Magnolia Lodge of Masons of Biloxi.

He leaves three daughters, Mrs. G. H. McMurrough, Lexington, Miss., Miss Laura White and Mrs. Allen Watson of Biloxi, and a son, John T. White of Jackson.

Former Hurley Man Killed In Accident

Winton Ratchiff Hamilton, former resident of Hurley, was killed Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in an accident at Niles, Michigan. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Hamilton of Hurley. He had been employed as a machine operator for the Bendix Brick Co.

at South Bend, Ind.

The body was brought to Menominee and the funeral was held from the Hall Funeral Parlors yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Services were conducted under the auspices of the Methodist Church at 2:30 p.m. and interment was in the cemetery at Hurley.

He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Earle Johnson and Miss Viola Hamilton of Hurley; and eight brothers, Winton, Malcolm, and Jesse and Gavin Hamilton of Hurley; Homer and Marion Hamilton of Niles, Mich.; Robert and Marion Hamilton of South Bend, Ind.

last states admitted to the Union were Arizona and New Mexico.

May Invoke May Act

Unless this is done the War or Navy Department may invoke the May Act and supersede local law enforcement. The Federal Bureau of Investigation would take over under such circumstances.

By arrangement with the Selective Service Board the Health Department takes Wassermann tests for syphilis on all selectees from this county. Men found to have positive Wassermanns are placed on treatment either by private physicians or by the Health Department as the selectee may elect.

Our venereal disease clinics are growing steadily in attendance. The treatments at the Ocean Springs clinic are being given by Dr. Frank C. Schmitz at the Health Center each Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock. The director of health gives the treatments at Vancleave in the P. F. A. building each Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at Moss Point in the Community House each Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock and at Pascagoula in the department office each Thursday morning at nine o'clock. We suggest that all employers urge their workers and house servants to come to these places for blood tests. The results of the tests are held confidential, however. All expectant mothers regardless of station in life, should insist on having a blood test made as a protection for the unborn child.

Mississippi has the second highest venereal disease incidence among all the states in this country. We must all unite in protecting our present Army and Navy men, and our unborn children, against this terrible plague.

Held School Clinics

In March we began to hold school clinics in the Pascagoula schools. Children selected by the teachers as being in evident need of medical attention are being examined. We insist that one of the parents be present at the time of the examination. It has been found by experience that examinations made in the absence of the parent are largely a waste of time as far as getting correction of defects are concerned. A parent who is not interested enough in the child to come to school for the examination is not usually interested in getting the defects corrected.

To our surprise we found that many of the children are undernourished, though coming from

Smaller Types Of Preference of Mat Announce From H

In announcing requirements for priorities assistance on critical materials necessary for the construction of "defense housing" today, William E. Nash, Atlanta, Ga., Southeastern Regional Coordinator for the National Housing Agency, stated that these regulations mean the end of private construction to builders who can not obtain priority assistance. Priority ratings for private housing are available in Pascagoula, he said, because an in-migration of war workers is apparent in this locality.

Among the criteria announced as necessary to qualify for building under the National Housing regulations are a sales price not to exceed $6,000. or a monthly rental of no more than $50, a location convenient to a defense plant, and preference in occupancy to defense workers.

New homes must meet the needs of war workers, he said, and rent ranges are being established on the basis of 20 per cent of the estimated income range of war workers in the area.

Regulations provide that all housing constructed with priority assistance be located within walking distance of the war plant or within walking distance of transportation serving the war activity. The cost of commuting from home to factory he said shall not exceed 40 cents per round trip.

While in general, only principal cities in the area fall under the approval of the National Housing Agency, priorities assistance will be available for locations within reasonable commuting distance of war activities for which housing is needed. Nash pointed out applications for private building will be handled through the local Federal Housing Administration office.

Cities in Mississippi which have been named as eligible for priority assistance include: Columbus, Meridian, Hattiesburg, Pascagoula, Biloxi, Jackson, Grenada,

While there is wild azalea, commonly called wild honeysuckle, all over the state it is only in this section that the yellow variety may be found according to Mississippi horticulturalists.

The European weatherfish is said to exhibit uneasiness at signs of an approaching storm.

But that view was by no means unanimous — especially among Democrats, most of whom opposed the measure in both chambers.

"These bills punish working families and reward the wealthy and the big multinationals," said House Minority Whip David Bonior, D-Mich. "It's inequitable, it's unfair and it puts the burden on those who can least afford to bear it."

Both versions claim to eliminate deficits by 2002 — which would be a first since 1969 — mostly by targeting federal health care programs, selling slices of the broad-

These restaurants are now inspected at least four times a year.

Repeated violations of Cajun's have brought about more frequent checks. Tuesday's inspection was a follow-up to the June 10 visit. Tom Harvey, owner of the Cajun's chain, was unavailable for comment about the outcome of the inspection.

Health Department District Supervisor Pansy Maddox said she hopes official action against Cajun's will get Harvey's attention and the stores will stay in compliance.

"We have had a continuous problem with Cajun's. They get the stores cleaned up, then they go back to the same old nasty habits," she said.

The collision put an estimated 1-inch gash in Spektr. When the crew heard the hissing of oxygen seeping through the hole and felt pressure dropping throughout Mir, they immediately shut the hatch, sealing Spektr off from the rest of the space station but exposing it to the deadly vacuum of space.

Pressure aboard the rest of the space station soon stabilized. By afternoon, eight hours after the accident, the pressure was a little low and the temperature about normal, Culbertson said.

Through their quick action, the cosmonauts saved the station from worse damage and possible abandonment, both countries' space programs said.

The crash also punctured one of the solar panels on Spektr and dented a radiator, Culbertson said. Spacewalks almost certainly would be required to repair the hole, if it can be fixed, he said.

An Unfortunate Shooting Affair.

An unfortunate shooting affair took place at Moss Point Wednesday night at nine o'clock when Monroe Cowart shot M. L. Hamilton in the head, the wounded man dying at 10:30. E. L. Parker, who was in the same boat with Hamilton, jumped overboard and was shot at twice, but was uninjured. The altercation arose over a crib of dead head logs which was claimed by both parties. Both Hamilton and Cowart were landing at the Street Railway docks in their respective boats when the dispute occurred which resulted in Cowart having fired three shots, one striking Hamilton in the head causing his death, and the other two fired at Parker, having gone amiss. Cowart was arrested by Sheriff McLeod and his deputies at his home a few hours after the shooting and was lodged in jail pending a preliminary hearing, which will probably be held in a day or two. The only witnesses to the shooting so far known are E. L. Parker and the engineer on the boat in which Hamilton was.

Both of the parties are well known, Cowart being a man of family residing in Moss Point. Hamilton resided at Hurley and was sixty-five years old. He was a man who was held in high esteem in his section.

The sheriff, a friend of Hamilton's, was forced to shoot him in order to stop him from killing others. The wounds inflicted by the sheriff proved to be fatal.

PEOPLE

Tracing family by forests, instead of trees

By Glen Elsasser
Chicago Tribune

WHEN THE CONVERSATION turns to family, Howard and Elizabeth Hamilton of Charlottesville, Va., can readily chat about their relatives from the Dark Ages, the Middle Ages or 17th century America.

As members of the most exclusive lineage-based societies, the Hamiltons have cultivated unusually broad-branched family trees. Among their ancestors from 40 or so generations are the early monarch Charlemagne, crusaders to the Holy Land and English barons who in 1215 forced King John to sign the Magna Carta, a fore-runner of the U.S. Constitution.

At Jumping Branch Farm, their home at the edge of this thriving university town, the couple talked about their fascination with genealogy and the demanding hurdles that await anyone in the pursuit of old family overseas.

Unlike the more familiar Sons or Daughters of the American Revolution, these societies require generations of proven parent-child links to a European ancestor of distinction.

Elizabeth Hamilton is president general of the 300-member National Society of Americans of Royal Descent, which she refers to as "ARD" and "the most difficult to get into."

The Hamiltons each belong to about 15 ancestral organizations, with such exalted names as the Order of the Crown of Charlemagne in the United States of America; the Order of Three Crusades 1096-1192; the National Society of the Daughters of the Barons of Runnymede; and the Magna Charta Society.

While pedigree ancestors are a source of pride, the Hamiltons insist — in typically American fashion — that an individual must cut his own path in life.

"It's interesting to know who your ancestors are and what they have done," Elizabeth Hamilton said, "but you have to do something with your own line. You have to make your own accomplishments. You have to stand on your own two feet."

In her case, an ancestor like the 11th century monarch St. Margaret of Scotland or more recent ancestors "who led very good lives can inspire you to do the right thing." Other than that, she said, "It doesn't affect your life."

Befitting the dignity of their lineage, perhaps, the Hamiltons have a reserved, almost ingenuous, bearing. They professed great reluctance to be interviewed for fear of appearing arrogant or ostentatious. A photo in Town and Country magazine following their wedding and a short piece in the Richmond newspaper about their genealogical quest are their only forays into public exposure, they said.

Long road to royalty

Unlike their European counterparts, Elizabeth Hamilton said, "People over here must go through countless generations before reaching royalty." A recurring problem in tracing family trees, she said, are Colonial ancestors who severed all ties to their past when they came here seeking a new life.

According to her, church records with data on parentage often have disappeared or been destroyed in fires, forcing family researchers to turn to wills, deeds and other public records for clues.

Howard Hamilton's roots go back to his native Iowa, where he grew up on a farm, and Puritan New England, while his wife's are in New York, Mississippi, New Orleans and Cavalier Virginia.

Elizabeth Hamilton admits to gaps in her family tree. But as a descendant of William Randolph, a gentleman planter in Colonial Virginia, and his wife, Mary Isham, she was readily able to hook up within 15 generations to King Edward III of England (1327-1377) and King Henry I of France (1031-1060).

Howard Hamilton, 73, a retired zoology professor at the University of Virginia, is descended from King Edward I of England (1272-1307).

"Most members of ARD are descendants of these three monarchs," she said, wearing a wide silk sash edged in gold and brown stripes. She paused to show visitors the society's pin, an elegant gold wreath encircling a crown that is encrusted with rubies, emeralds, sapphires and diamonds.

Only the top official of an ancestral society — usually the president general — is entitled to wear a wide sash displaying its distinctive pin; other officers wear narrower sashes.

Family connections are recorded in a red missal-sized book, "Living Descendants of Blood Royal," which has been compiled in Britain. It contains members' pictures, including one of Elizabeth Hamilton, the former Elizabeth Burnley Bentley of New York City.

To qualify for Americans of Royal Descent, she points out, women must already be members of the Colonial Dames, and men, of the Society of Colonial Wars. And yet the proper blood lines do not guarantee entree.

"Membership is by invitation only," she said. "They want people who are compatible with members — ladies and gentlemen who are nice to one another. Some people are so unpleasant and have really abrasive personalities. A braggart gives the society a bad name."

On their vacations, the Hamiltons have tried to familiarize themselves with places and things associated with their ancestors. In England they visited London's Westminster Abbey, the burial site of many royal figures, and St. George's Chapel at Windsor Castle, where the shield and sword of King Edward III are displayed.

At the Louvre in Paris they saw the sword of Charlemagne and a ring belonging to King Louis IX, the saint-king of France, one of Elizabeth's ancestors.

The Hamiltons have also been officers of the Order of Three Crusades 1096-1192, which commemorates the hardy souls who joined the early expeditions to wrest Jerusalem from Moslem control. Membership in this group is also restricted.

"You must be descended from one or more persons who reached Jerusalem and fought in battle," Elizabeth Hamilton said. "If your ancestor died en route, you are not eligible."

The society recognizes only the first three crusades for membership. "The later crusades were very large, and the records are not as good as the early ones," she said.

These societies all promote a popular interest in history and genealogy, and support preservation, especially churches and chapels in Britain and France.

A mutual interest

Appropriately, it was a mutual interest in genealogy that brought the Hamiltons together in 1969.

"I got mad when people dragged the flag through the streets in the 1960s and burned it," she said of the tumultuous era of anti-war protests. "So I decided to associate myself with patriotic societies that stand for the traditions we love. I was not going to turn my back on the flag and tradition."

She first saw Howard Hamilton at a meeting of Americans of Royal Descent. "I was brand new member and was wearing a big hat at a meeting that went on and on," she said with a laugh. "My future husband was the guest speaker, but I wanted to go to a party with all my friends in New York. So I walked out before the speech."

After becoming a board member, she said, "We gradually got to know each other."

Since their marriage in 1975, they have lived at Jumping Branch Farm, which years ago was transformed from Victorian ordinary to Georgian splendor.

With daughters 11 and 12 years old, the Hamiltons have less time these days for genealogy. "We used to do it a lot," she said, "but now we only do it from time to time."

Howard Hamilton was recently invited to join the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, the nation's oldest continuous lineal society. It was founded in the 1600s for the self-protection of early Massachusetts Colonists.

A stroke four years ago has also delayed Howard Hamilton's efforts to work out a family line for membership in the Society of Mayflower Descendants.

"I wouldn't be surprised if he has a Mayflower line," his wife said optimistically.

Hamiltons honored on 50th anniversary

HURLEY — Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hamilton were honored on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception Aug. 3, 1991, at Hurley United Methodist Church.

Hosting the celebration was the couple's children and their families — Mr. and Mrs. Bobby (Jean) Hamilton, son and daughter-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey (Debbie) Hamilton, son and daughter-in-law; Billy Hamilton, son; Nacole Hamilton, granddaughter; Donald W. Hamilton and Eric Hamilton, grandsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton were surprised by a limosine arriving to drive them to the church. The limosine service was a gift from son Billy Hamilton and grandson Donald W. Hamilton.

For the occasion, Mrs. Hamilton chose a soft mauve colored dress with embroidered edges accented with a yellow rose corsage and gold accessories. Mr. Hamilton wore a navy blue suit with vague pinstripes and a yellow rose boutonniere.

The reception area was decorated in white with gold accents. Magnolia branches were used to highlight the white background. The serving table featured a centerpiece of white and yellow roses with magnolia blossoms displayed at each end of the table.

Golden punch was served on a table decorated with a candleabra bearing yellow candles with magnolia blossoms enhancing the overall look. Flower arrangements were made by Jean Hamilton, daughter-in-law.

The honorees toasted each other using the glasses used at the 50th anniversary celebration of Mrs. Hamilton's parents, the late Ollie and Essie Pierce, on Oct. 1, 1972.

Sue Bennett registered guests with Doris Trafton serving cake and Jean Hamilton serving punch. Margaret Carter and Juanita Hamilton assisted with other refreshments. Lisa Thompson
